The Sun says, the MAIL still calls it October. Yes! and the Sun of Monday calls it the 11th of November.

Oysters in the shell at Mrs. Knubb's.

Jack Frost has commenced business for the winter; he commenced to paint the windows on Monday night last.

Messrs. Irwin and Treherne have hired the roller rink and are converting it into a gymnasium for the winter.

Isn't it a horrid thing, that red flag up at C.E. Miller's, it shows everybody where all the bargains are.

Two roosters fighting engaged the attention of a dozen of our business men for about fifteen minutes, on Monday.

George Rounsfell is now buying wheat at Griswold for Mr. Edgar while "Bob" is manipulating the cereals in this city.

Dr. McDonald has been around the last few days receiving the congratulations of his many friends on his recovery from his late illness.

Dress goods! Dress goods! almost half price at C.E. Miller's.

The bazaar in connection with the R. C. church has netted about $450, not a bad sum for the ladies to "work up" on so short a notice in these hard times.

Mr. W. H. Hooper was able to be down street on Monday, though it will be a long time before his fractured ankle will allow him to move around without sticks.

It is not probable the local sawmill will be opened next summer, as the water is so low in the Swan River, the only source of log supply, that floating cannot be successfully done.

Alb. Hanbury has been through to Delor and other southern points in the interest of his jobbing trade, and is surprised at the amount of damage he has seen done by prairie fires. He has observed destruction in every direction.

The Winnipeg papers say that J. M. Robinson, of the times, has been in the city giving evidence as to the previous good character of Scott the Marquette forger, who has been brought back from Mexico, under 23 charges of forgery. As Scott is Robinson's brother-in-law, his anxiety in the matter may readily be imagined.

Mrs. Andrews, wife of the Rev. A. Andrews, and well known to many of our readers, is to deliver a lecture under the auspices of the W.C.T.U. on "Women's Crusade in Ohio during 1873-4," in the Methodist church in the city this (Thursday) evening at 8 o'clock.

The lady is said to deliver an excellent discourse, and we trust her lecture will be well taken up by our readers. A collection will be taken up at the close, to defray traveling expenses.

Mr. White, lately a baker in this city, returned to Ontario on Monday.

A son of Col. Williams, has received a commission in the Mounted Police.

The new Municipal Act is to come into force on the 15th inst., and A. Stewart, the secretary, of the Eastern Judicial Board, is to receive the appointment of commissioner.

J. A. Pentland has received the Conservative nomination for Lorne. It is said Mr. Norquay desired it, in view of his probable defeat in St. Andrews, but it was denied him.

A great chance to see 35 ct. dress goods for 20 cts., but they do not at C.E. Miller's.

The Rev. Father Chénier, of Winnipeg, went west to Whiteswold Monday, where he is to hold a public service. He was accompanied by the Rev. Father McCarty, who went as far as Oak Lake.

Chief John, of the Sioux Indians, made many a Brandonite stare on Monday. He had with him the heads of two large elk decorated with magnificent horns. He shocked the credulity of by-standers when he showed $24 for the two heads.

Twilled wool sheeting in white and grey—good and cheap at C.E. Miller's.

In the cane contest between Mr. Smart and Mr. Winters, candidates for the local legislature, in connection with the R. C. bazaar, Mr. Winters came in ahead by about 400 majority. If he has half that in the ballot for election, he ought to be fully satisfied.

On Friday morning a horse attached to a milk wagon made things lively for himself, the wagon and the milk, in front of the postoffice. In his capers, he tripped and fell flat on his side, breaking the wagon, and sprinkling the streets with about 40 gallons of the five cent fluid.

The windstorm of Thursday shook the taffery to its very foundation, blowing in one of the windows, and leaving the concern more in the dark than ever. If the concern was deprived of its Norquay prep at double rates, almost any gust of wind would send it to smithereens.

The Brandon Sun heads a meeting held by Mr. Greenway at Rapid City as "The conqueror's march." About the only time Mr. Greenway ever made a conquering march was in 1870, and that time he marched up from Crystal City to Winnipeg, and cabined his seasonal allowance and mileage to and from the session, without ever putting a foot inside the parliament building while the session was in progress, to earn a cent of the money he marched after so "conqueringly."

We have received a letter from Messrs. Russell & Cooper, barristers, with reference to a communication from the pen of Mr. H. Peacock, in last week's issue, dealing with a business transaction between himself and Mr. Larkin. We make it a point that nothing appears in our columns editorially that we are not in a position to prove, and we insert no anonymous correspondence in the MAIL of the correctness of which we have not the best assurance. Mr. Peacock is a substantial citizen, and fully responsible for what he says. We never knowingly do any man an injury, and have no desire to be a party to injuring Mr. Larkin in this instance.

Mr. C.E. Miller has bought the stock of Cameron & Cumming and the store will be closed for stock taking till Monday. The store will that day be opened for bargains.

12th raising for $1 at N.E. Miller's, Combs & Stewart's old stand.

Feeling the importance of Brandon, and realizing the necessity of a wholesale cigar depot here, Mr. Hasbary, about two months ago, completed arrangements with Davis & Son, of Montreal, the most extensive manufacturers in Canada, for the exclusive control of their goods in the market. That he has acted wisely, his sales (which amounted to very nearly fifty thousand the first week) will plainly show. He has succeeded in introducing two special brands of cigars, for which he has exclusive control—we refer to the Dardanelles and the J. H. To all lovers of the weed, we wish to say, that, if you want a perfect smoke, try either one of them, and we are satisfied it will meet your expectations. They will be found on sale at the MAIL bookstore, and at every place in town where cigars are usually found.

Highest price paid for butter and eggs at C.E. Miller's.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 6.—The evening papers publish an exceedingly sensational item this afternoon. It appears that some months ago an Englishman named W. H. Shauls resided in the city, with his wife and two children. Owing to scarcity of work or laziness he fell into distressed circumstances, and got into debt. He set his wits to work to relieve his poverty, and developed a very original scheme. Amongst his acquaintances, was a plasterer named George Williams, and to him he made the proposal that he could take over Mrs. Shauls and the family of two children, for $67, enough to enable him to leave the country, and get to England. Williams accepted the proposition, and as Mrs. Shauls had no decided objections, after little wrangling over the amount to be paid, the bargain was closed. The agreement was drawn up by Messrs. Glass & Glass, barristers, and was signed by both parties. Shauls then left for England. Williams and Mrs. Shauls have been living together since.

The transaction took place about a month ago, and although known to the near neighbors it did not reach the public's ears until today. It is likely the police will take immediate action.

A day or two ago two young men, James Inglis and Frank Thorp, arrived in the city from Brandon, where they had been working and went to board at the California hotel. Both of them were expecting the balance of their wages being sent to them by their former employer, and yesterday Inglis went to the postoffice, and finding a registered letter there, he opened it, and found the name and kept the money, some twelve dollars. When taxed with the offence by Thorp he said he had been notified of it. He was arrested by detective Leach this morning on a charge of forgery, and is now in a cell at the police station.

It appears that Lieut. Governor Masson, of Quebec, refuses to sign money warrants for the Ross Government, under the belief that the representatives, and the Grits are rejoicing in consequence. Now, compare this with the action of Lieut. Just, Masson's predecessor, who dismissed his cabinet, when he knew they were supported by a majority of the House. The only further comment necessary is Masson is a Conservative, and Lieut. Just was a Grit.

Mr. Charlton would have it the other night that Manitoba was cursed with a railway monopoly, and was the only country under the sun that was; also that the N.P. was of no earthly use to this province. We have before us a copy of a St. Vincent paper containing interesting communications from the pens of John Turner, G. Nesbitt, J. G. Mortimer, and F. Tachon, on farmers in the state of Minnesota, and they individually and collectively say that they sold samples of wheat graded No. 3 by the St. Vincent dealers, in St. Vincent at 27 cents a bushel. They brought the same wheat across to Emerson where it graded No. 1 and sold it for 50 cents. What do Mr. Charlton and his Grit friends make out of this? Does it not prove there are worse monopolies across the lines than there are here, and that but for the 10 cents a bushel protection Manitoba dealers would be supplied with American wheat? "Ah! but," says the Grit politician, "it is the price in Great Britain that rules and not the Manitoba markets." In so far as the large shipments are concerned, this is true; but as Ontario millers have to import from some quarter to keep their mills running, and as the Ontario crop is often insufficient to meet home demands, these shortages have to be obtained in some quarter, and, of course, in the cheapest market. Would not the American be the cheapest market, from what we have seen above? and would not the Ontario people buy there, for all shortages, but for the protection of 10 cts. a bushel? This is what we want all sensible people to look into for themselves. Would not British Columbia, for the same reason continue to buy Oregon flour instead of Manitoba flour but for the protection of 50 cts a barrel? This 50 cents is the only thing that enables Manitoba millers to sell in British Columbia.

NORTHWEST NEWS.

The Calgary municipal elections yesterday resulted as follows: mayor, George C. King, by a majority of twenty-three over John Lumsden; councillors, James Martin, A.E. Shelton, Alexander Allen and John Ellis. Everything passed off quietly. Last night there was a demonstration of Mr. King's supporters.

Mr. Sullivan, government engineer, arrived in the city on Sunday afternoon last, for the purpose of taking levels, etc., of the Assiniboine, and report upon the feasibility of deepening the stream or otherwise improving it to prevent the recurrence of the floods that took place four years ago and the damage resulting from it. Since August last he has been at work upon the survey, and completed that portion from Portage la Prairie to Winnipeg. Asking as what his report would likely be, he said as far as he was able to judge, he did not see how it was possible to do anything. As to navigation, from all he could learn, it would not pay the government to go to any great expense in cleaning up the channel, as running parallel with the railroad for so great a distance it would be little used. Speaking of Lake Manitoba, Mr. Sullivan believed it would be possible to run a channel from Rye St. Paul to the lake, and make navigation from that point to Winnipeg possible. The spring overflow of the lake will be averted. The cost will be about $1,000,000.

Mr. J. Stewart is now at work on the grist mill at Fort Ellice. The municipality gives a bonus of $2,500.

An application has been made to parliament by the Emerson and Northwest Railway, to construct a line from Emerson to Portage la Prairie, with a branch to the western boundary of Manitoba.

A strong company with $50,000 paid up capital, has started to work the Anthracite coal mines, near Rind Springs, in the Rockies.

Winnipeg Nov. 7.—Three fatal accidents occurred in the mountains last week. Hector McEldon, walking boss at Donald, B.C., was caught on the track and cut to pieces. Remains brought here and sent to Kirkfield, Ont. on Saturday evening. In Selkirk on Tuesday, A. Campbell was killed by falling timber. On Thursday a brakeman named C. Weiman fell between cars at Feld and was cut in two.

Mr. Dow, of Toddburn, has threshed his grain and has an average yield of twenty-five bushels to the acre. As the land and climate is much the same all over the district, it is remarkable that some men can raise so much more than others.

Donald, B.C., Nov. 7.—Last night, a working train, while climbing the grade, near Rogers Pass, broke loose. The parties, cars, running back, collided with another working train behind it. Two men were killed and eight others injured. Mr. McKee, foreman, was killed, and also a workman, name unknown. Levi Code, storekeeper, badly hurt, has since died of his injuries. W. G. Earle, C.E., badly injured. Mrs. McKee, wife of the killed foreman, was slightly injured. A number of workmen, names unknown, were more or less seriously injured.

It is understood that the government has made arrangements for the future payment of rather the return of bonuses granted by municipalities to railway companies, receiving aid. The payment will be made from the 3% of the gross earnings of the roads, which is to be paid to the government. In this way some of over burdened towns may eventually be relieved.

A large quantity of machinery went west last week destined for the Lake Dauphin district. It was consigned to Mr. Arch. McLeod, of the Hudson Bay post, near Strathclair. The machinery will be used in testing the value of the coal oil deposit at Lake Dauphin.

Taxpayers should bear in mind that under the amendment to the Municipal Act of 1884, passed at the last session of parliament, any goods and chattels they may have in possession are liable to seizure and sale if taxes are not paid.

CALGARY, Nov. 7.—A serious conflagration occurred here this morning, which destroyed upwards of a hundred thousand dollars worth of property. Incendiaries were very strongly suspected. The fire was first discovered at half past five this morning in the rear of Parrish & Son's grocery store. As the buildings were frame the fire spread with great rapidity, and the town being without fire protection, the citizens were powerless to check the flames. The fire raged two hours and a half and was only checked by tearing down buildings and removing everything inflammable. Over 25 buildings were destroyed. The principal losers were L. G. Baker & Co., $50,000; Parrish & Sons, $5,500; Massey Mfg. Co., $6,000. Six hotels were burned. Another blaze started at six o'clock in the evening, but after hard fighting the fire was quelled. The mayor addressed the citizens saying he would turn any offender over to them for punishment. Judge Lynch will unquestionably be called in if incendiary is detected.

CONSUMPTION CURED.

An old physician, retired from practice, having placed in his hands by an honest Indian missionary the formula of a simple vegetable remedy for the speedy and permanent cure of Consumption, Bronchitis, Catarrh, Asthma, and all throat and Lung Affections, also a positive and radical cure for nervous debility and all nervous complaints, after having tested his wonderful curative powers in thousands of cases, has felt it his duty to make it known to his suffering fellow-men. Actuated by this motive and a desire to relieve human suffering, I will send free of charge, to all who desire it, this receipt, in German, French or English, with full directions for preparing and using. Sent by mail by ad. drawing with stamp, non-refundable paper, 1/4. J. A. Remy, 100 Power's Block, Rochester, N. Y.

MR. CHARLTON AND THE PRINT.

One would think from the utterances of the gentleman the morning after Mr. Charlton's speech, that some one had bought the boy that made a new toy pistol or something of the kind, and gloriously fielded it did it appear to be. It says, in his reply he opened shot, shell, and shillery upon Mr. Cliffe, and the latter would regret the consequences all the remaining days of his life. "Dear, Oh! dear, du tell!" said Mr. Charlton repeated Gritism, as exemplified at Ottawa, in a very fair form, but it is full of holes and bones, is a something of which we have as yet no evidence. It is a well known fact that Mr. Cliffe lays no claim to eloquence as a public speaker, and his speech that evening was simply to show, in a plain matter of fact way, that the wooden legged Gritism were not always capable of being up the carcass, and we fancy many a Gritism listener there that evening will agree to that. In fact it would be much more nearly for the print to have given faithful reports of the speeches of both gentlemen, and allow the public to judge for themselves what the general route comes to, but that would not be Gritism in its true colors. However, where the report is at all near the mark, we will compare it with the facts on the one side, and allow the public to draw their own conclusions. Mr. Charlton said it would have been much better and much cheaper had Mr. M. McKenzie's plan for the construction of the C.P. been carried out; but what that plan was no one knows—at first it was a wagon road, and then water stretches, and finally an Act was passed empowering him to go for its construction:

55,000,000 acres of land @	$111,400,000
Subsidy of $10,000 per mile	29,000,000
For water of 4 1/2 mil. on 27,500
per mile for 25 years	20,000,000
Total	$160,400,000

And still after frittering away five years, all that was built was the Emerson & St. Boniface section and the Fort Francis locks. The Grit orator said Mr. McKenzie's plan was to build the road slowly and encourage settlement in Manitoba. He built it enough, God knows, but as the Camarons terms, to which the Grit Government gave its assent, called for the completion of the line by the 1st of January, 1890, speed would have to be made some time to prevent the second breach of faith with British Columbia. However, on vacating office in 1878 their partisanship turned to prophecy, and was not very successful even that way. They prophesied, first, that the syndicate would gobble what securities they could, clear out, and leave the government in the lurch, before anything more than a few miles of prairie road was built, and that prediction failed. They next declared the company would put the road through to the Rockies, get the bonus and land grant for that, and after abandoning the rocky crossing and the section back of the lakes, throw the work back into the hands of the government, and that prophecy failed. They next declared that when the government lent the extra thirty millions, that was virtually a gift, as it would never be returned, and they lied in this again, as the loan is all repaid. If it was true, as Mr. Charlton asserted, the road cost Canada $90,000,000, it would still be a saving of $70,000,000 from Mr. McKenzie's plan, stated above, but as it cost but $80,000,000, $10,000,000 of constructed road, twenty-seven millions in land, or eighteen million acres, and twenty-five millions of cash subsidy, the Grit orator was ten millions out even in that count, but that is nothing for a Grit. However, the print quotes the orator as saying the government had only wasted a little larger it could have let the contract to a new syndicate at $20,000,000. What he did say was several millions less, but this is so much pipe. It is true a new syndicate made an offer of twenty-two millions of money and twenty-two million acres of land just as the original contract was about to be signed, but it was simply to hawk the scheme, so that the Grit party might taunt the Conservatives, and as well as themselves. If there were such heroic companies in Iowa like cloth Mr. Charlton's singular thing none of them turn out. In McKenzie's time, when they could be given a special deliverance to Gritism in Canada. The fact, however, that John Ross and others of the so-called company telegraphed to Ottawa their names were used without their knowledge or consent, was good evidence in favor of the scheme was on a level with Grit promises in general.

Mr. Charlton, too, dealt, and as his Grit friends doubtless believe, ably with the question of protection; but a little consideration of the facts under his patent shows that he hangs the weight of his philosophy upon the prosperity of Great Britain under free trade. Mr. Cliffe, in reply, stated that England's success in manufacturing was owing to her having an abundance of capital, and that at low rates of interest, cheap agents, and her mines and minerals all lying side by side in the bowels of the earth. Mr. Charlton said this, but he only went a short distance with his proof, and that was against the fact. He said the difference between industries in Great Britain and Canada did not amount to more than ten per cent on the aggregate of the manufactures, and there he dropped the comparison—he said this ten per cent ought to be sufficient protection in Canada. The difference is greater, but we will not quarrel on that score. Now, every one knows the difference in rates of interest to English and Canadian manufacturers cannot be less than five per cent. To establish smelting works in Brandon, for instance, a manufacturer would have to bring his coal and ore from a distance, while his English competitor has them side by side at his door, and cheaper by the cost of freights and difference in wages at the mines. These combined will be at least another 15%, as every sensible man is fully aware. These three items amount to 30%, which, for other substantial reasons, is under the protection the Manitoban must have to succeed. Do not Mr. Charlton's admirers fully understand this? He next declared protection in the United States a failure; but in this he simply put his own judgment—or rather statement—against that of the whole American people. Does he mean to say that they all are fools, and he alone is the philosopher? If protection is a failure in the U. S., why do not the Americans abolish it? That is the question for philosopher Charlton. Mr. Charlton said that he never advocated a high tariff, but as his own record is against him, we reproduce a portion of it to prove our assertion. Here is what he said at Parkdale when the Conservatives had just introduced the N.P. — "He often thought it an error to believe that the differences between the parties on this subject were so great as was generally represented. With the necessities of the public expenditure, free trade was an impossibility in this country. It was, in his opinion, impossible to return to a 20% tariff, and that tariff whatever it was must afford at least sufficient protection for goods that could fairly be produced in Canada. Even were Reformers in power it would be impossible for them to sweep away all duties; they could do no more than modify the tariff."

In 1879, he believed a 20% tariff would never be sufficient to meet the requirements of Canada, but in 1886, when the Grits of Manitoba want jag handled free trade, he tells them less than 17% will serve the purposes of Canada. What do his Grit hearers of last week think of his acrobatic feat? What does the local Grit print think of the way in which he routed Mr. Cliffe, "horse, foot, and artillery"? But to carry the argument further, here again is what he said in 1876, when the Grits refused to protect our interests: — "I believe that the interests of the nation at large would be promoted by protection, and that the manufacturers being brought to the door of the farmer would afford a market for a great many articles of produce that would not be saleable if the market were 3,000 miles away, with a home market of this kind established by protection to manufacturers, the agriculturist can benefit his soil by producing a rotation of crops."

"It has been charged that protection has prevented the extension of foreign commerce in that country—the United States. That may be true; but it is estimated that the domestic commerce of the United States last year reached the enormous proportions of 200,000,000 tons, valued at $10,000,000,000. What is the foreign commerce of that country compared with the vast domestic trade that goes on increasing without the fluctuations or risks of foreign trade?"

Mr. Cliffe stated at the meeting an evidence of the benefits of protection was shown by the fact we bought five times as many manufactures in the United States, a protected country as we bought in Great Britain, free trade, and Mr. Charlton contended the excess consisted of wheat entered at our canals for export. As the figures were not available, the question stood as one of veracity between the two speakers. In a later issue, we will produce them from the Trade and Navigation returns 1878, which will enable all to judge for themselves.

Mr. Charlton railed against the senate, and declared it should be abolished, and Mr. Cliffe asked why the Grits didn't abolish it when they were in office. Mr. Charlton said they would have done so, if allowed time. Now, here is a mathematical question for our city school teachers. If it took the Grit party five years to merely think of abolishing the senate, how many years would they require to complete its denouement, at the same rate of progress? Perhaps the Sun editor, who knows all about "horse, foot and artillery" could give us some figures on the subject.

Mr. Charlton dealt very pleasantly to himself—over the Dominion's Gerymander Act; but he was silent as the grave, over dear little Mowat's mechanism in the same direction, when he cut the village of Lucknow in two, and divided other small municipalities to save his brethren of the pure quill.

Mr. Charlton repeated the old, old story of Abe Lincoln's client and the hams, and because the MATT gives a reasonable support to the Dominion Government, the Sun says it must have received one of those hams. Well, the MATT has received the regular newspaper patronage given to government papers, by the Dominion administration, but nothing more. If it was hams it was after it would have supported the Norway Government in the past—it is that institution that runs the Manitoba smoke house. We remember, however, that on one occasion the Mowat Government spent $15,000 in advertising for $26,000 worth of coal for the Ontario parliament buildings. There were hams going then, and we presume the Sun editor got one. If he did not it was because he had not yet proselyted from the political faith of his early days.

Mr. Charlton, at his Brandon meeting, said the American land laws were so much superior to those of Canada that they induced many Canadians to settle in the states; but he failed to say how many Blake's speeches eulogistic of American institutions, drove there. Whether Mr. Blake in those speeches, intended to send Canadians to the States, it is not our duty to enquire; but the fact that American immigration agents published those speeches with a wood cut of Mr. Blake as a frontispiece in their pamphlets, is the best evidence of the truth of what we say. However, as to the land laws themselves, we make a few comparisons:—Any male head of a family eighteen years of age can make entry for a homestead in Canada, but he must be 21 years of age to do it in the States, and must take the oath of allegiance before his application can be entertained. This latter is unnecessary here. A homestead and preemption can be entered for at the same time in the Canadian Northwest, while they cannot be in the States. The claim of a settler on unsurveyed land in this country is allowed, after the survey is made but it is not acknowledged in the States. Ten dollars is the fee on homestead entry in this country and $26 in the States.

Any homesteader in Canada is allowed six months in which to examine the character of his land before perfecting his entry, while in the land of the free, if a homesteader through any course whatever selects a bad farm, he must put up with the consequences, he has no redress.

Three years residence of six months in each year entitles a resident of the Northwest to obtain his patent; but under the stars and stripes he must reside on his homestead five years continuously before he can get his title. The settler in the Canadian Northwest has six months after being entitled to his patent for homestead, to pay up for his preemption, but he must cash up on the spot or lose his preemption in Charlton's country, which the Grits so much admire.

Continuous residence on a homestead is required in the Grits' country across the lines, but on this side the homesteader can leave his property to earn money, half the year, when ever he can find anything to do.

Second homesteading is not allowed in the States, the Canadian Northwest Grits clamored for it till they got it in this country.

The American laws make no provision for providing settlers with woodlands, but there is ample in this country. They have to battle their mortification in Blake's country, and burn it in cold weather.

If Mr. Kirchhoff, M.P.P. in expectation for west Brandon, is not an able politician he is at least well laden with suspicion and surmise, as is fully attested by a correspondence in last week's Preventor, which is generally credited to his versatile pen. He says that Mr. Cliffe was present at the meeting that selected the Glenwood delegates, and covertly insinuates he was satisfied with the selection. The fact is that after these delegates were selected, but the same evening, at the request of about thirty electors, Mr. Cliffe wrote a protest for the Conservatives of Glenwood against the selection, as non electors were present to force a choice. The main reason for Mr. Cliffe's writing a letter agreeing to abide by a decision of the convention was the assurance of the president of the Glenwood association, that a second delegation had been selected for that municipality in a constitutional way, and that he would never give the necessary certificate to the first selection. Does Mr. Kirchhoff fully understand this? Mr. Cliffe is always prepared to abide by conclusions properly arrived at, but never by snatched verdicts. We fancy that if the MATT only gave Mr. K. half the support it is capable of giving, he would have some other name for it besides "rag"; but as it is, it proves to be a red one, and that too on the horns of a dead bull. The assertion that Mr. Cliffe was satisfied with the result of the convention is so much pure fabrication. We believe a dozen men in the division outside of Mr. K's body guard in Glenwood cannot be got to approve of the way the result of the convention was arrived at, though many others are prepared to submit. But the name Cliffe appears to be as deeply engraved upon the heart of Mr. K. as was Calais upon the heart of Queen Mary—he sees Cliffe in every wind and whirl wind that disturbs his nightly repose. He accuses that gentleman of organizing the Flam Greek meeting, to consider the situation when he honestly knows Mr. C. was not responsible for it, and would never have attended it but to listen to the accusations of Mr. K's imagination. He next accuses him of calling the meeting at Brandon yesterday, when he could have learned from either Mr. Healy, Mr. Hector, Mr. Nichol or Mr. Townsend, the accusation is false in every particular. From the central location of the MATT office, people from all parts of the constituency call on us with their complaints against Mr. K's candidature; and it appears nothing will free us from the charge of wailing the breach and fomenting discord, but kicking these people out of the office, and thus we must decline to do, no matter how much such an action would advance the happiness of our dearly beloved, the Glenwood smiler.

On Thursday night of last week the Saved Army barracks at Roblin was destroyed by fire, and almost at the same moment their barracks at Davies' Corners suffered destruction in the same way. Incendiaries are suspected in connection with both conflagrations.

The Lockport Sentinel states that after a great fire in that village, a number of persons passed through and through with whiskey went through the streets of the village singing and shouting and smashing doors and windows. No arrests have been made, however, and it has not been shown where the rowdies landed the liquor.

A strange letter entered the residence of Mr. Thomas Moore, of Wingham, last week, went to a child, where a little child was sleeping, and it was checked until blood came. It was removed and put out of doors. It soon disappeared, however, and a second time made its appearance, but its movements were watched and it was deemed wise to incinerate it. Further enterprises of a similar kind are being watched.

Charles Warren, of Allamette Island, Ont., who was in the month of June, 1885, and latched them out, and the children were given to another turn. The children remained lying, and brought a great crowd of turkey. When the children were taken weeks old she again brought for the third time, and has been doing every day since.

When engaged in clearing away logs at the corner, French Columbia, found a human skeleton with the head embedded in the ground. The remains are believed to be of a native, and it is supposed they are many years old, as the tree was about thirty years old. Terrible scenes of frequent occurrence in this district of a century ago, and it is believed that the bones are the victim of a disease which has remained hidden for many years.

Charles Strang of the Huron county was found in a ditch, with a new coat of paint and a resident of that town for goods. The body was found by his wife. The ground of the body was that the wife was not the agent of the body, and by therefore, should not be responsible for debts contracted without her consent. Judge Toms gave his decision in favor of the merchant for the full amount, which establishes the fact that the agent of the husband, where a public notice to the contrary is not given.

A few days ago when Caughlin opened the box to get some money he found none; 23,862 had been stolen, and the old folks are left destitute.

A curious marriage ceremony took place recently in Nuremberg, Germany, the bride being the well known artist, Fraulein Hausmann. She wedded her impressario, Herr Hauschild, and signed her marriage contract with her feet. Rings were exchanged, and the wedding ring of the bride was placed on the fourth toe of her right foot.
